Ellendale, North Dakota

O the faculty of the State
Normal and Industrial School, in remembrance of their fostering care over us; in recognition of mutual relations ever maintained; and of the substantial helpfulness extended to us in times of need; in heartfelt gratitude for their deep interest in our future welfare; and in confident hope of our future success, molded and inspired by their noble ideals, the Class of 1917 affectionately dedicates this book.

T WAS just an ordinary day for others, but for us it was an epoch in our lives, that September day when we first arrived in Ellendale.

We hardly recognize in the lofty, dignified and self-possessed Seniors of 1916 the timid, awed, awkward, shrinking "Freshies" that entered the School.

After a year's work however this timidity and newness began to wear off and we became prominent in the school activities. A large number entered the various organizations of the N. I., which fact probably accounts for part of the prominence of these organizations in school affairs. How could they be otherwise than successful with such powerful motive force within their ranks?

It must be admitted that we were not always given our rightful place in school life until our Junior year. Then the student body looked to us for advice and we naturally became leaders. Some of our members were in "The Chocolate Soldier" given as a number of our Lecture Course. One of our group was chosen for the Y. W. C. A. president, also several more of the girls were chosen for the Cabinet. The second place on the declamation contest was won by one of our classmates. In the spring we out did all other classes in entertaining the Seniors, and we feel that we did justice to the occasion.

At last our senior year arrived—the year we had been looking forward to thru all our former years of work. Several entered our class from other schools at this time, and a few graduates returned, all of whom we were glad to welcome. These, recognizing the honor attached to N. I.'s diploma and the glory of the class of 1916, have made loyal members of our ranks. We are especially honored by having in our midst, one who is a faculty member. We had our first class meeting near the beginning of the year, and chose Everett Thrams president, as he was one whom we felt we could depend upon to lead us over the difficulties which must surely appear.

This year again finds the members of the class prominent in various school organizations and activities. Judging from the vigor and vim displayed in the past, we are confident that honor and glory will come to the class of 1916.

HREE Years ago the State Normal Industrial School had an exceptionally clever Freshman class. This was evident the following year as well, for as Sophomores they were famous for their wisdom, worldly and otherwise. The faculty declared that such a truly remarkable class had not been known to them for years. Not only in intellect, but in grace and beauty did they excell,—as witness, our president! This same talented aggregation is is now the Junior Class. In all lines of social activity they are to be found, and though "few in numbers they are great in spirit."

In every organization which has experienced any degree of success you will find that to the class of 1917 is most credit due. In Athletics, Literary Societies, Musical Organizations and School Activities of all kinds you will find the Juniors pushing to the front.

In short many and various are the talents to be found in this unusual class. They have much over which to be gratified. They are proud to respect the faculty, to revere their Alma Mater, and to be the "parents" of this book.

Long life to the Class of 1917.

Sophomore Class History

President—W. F. Wheeler Historian—Andy Hultstrand

T WAS in the fall of 1915, when the days were growing shorter, clear and frosty. In various homes throughout the land the young people who were to have the great honor of organizing the class of 1918 began to get down their old trunks from the attic and in them pack away the many articles needed in the great whirl of school life. Some came from our sister states but most of them are from dear old North Dakota.

The boys you will find unusually industrious. Some of them are doing considerable extra work, especially in the Mechanic Arts Department, hoping thereby to complete their course in less time than it would ordinarily take. Some are found in athletics. In football they played a very important part, in basketball they have not as yet met defeat from any of the other class teams. When the baseball season opens you will find the sturdy, ambitious sophomores ready and willing to do their part in making the "Old N. I" a victorious school this season.

Among the sophomore girls are those gifted with a talent for writing poetry, and some are interested in music, while others are contented to pursue the important study of Domestic Science.

The present Sophomores are eagerly looking forward to their graduation, when they shall be both able and willing to assume more of the cares and responsibilities of a bigger and better life.

Class of 1919

HE Class of 1919 is no ordinary class, but as yet we are not well enough established to have much of a history to record. Time is all that we ask for, however, and then some day we shall occupy the much coveted seats of the Seniors who have long passed the "persimmon state" in which we now find ourselves. But there is one consolation in being green, for all green things grow. As verdant as we may look we have never been known to buy chapel seats or last year's dance tickets, as it is whispered our illustrious predecessors have done. Therefore we are living in hope.

Taken as a whole, we lay claim to originality, and as each one voices his opinion we find that there is much personality as well as originality in this very extraordinary class. We have gathered here from all points of the compass—north, east, south and west—to obtain knowledge. All parts of North Dakota are represented in this class, as are also South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana and even Canada.

In the month of June we shall all return to our homes singing N. I. praises to all whom we meet and thus show our appreciations of this wonderful institution of learning For all our faithful labor here we shall some day be fully rewarded by finding ourselves at the top of the ladder. Then it will be our turn to look condescendingly down and pity other poor timid Freshmen who will have taken our places.

This is all prophecy, however. As yet we consider ourselves mere flourishing sprouts in this great garden of learning.

The Alphian Literary Society

Organized 1906—Miss Carolyn Evens (Mrs. W. M. Kern) Re-Organized 1910—Miss Gabriella C. Brendemuhl

HIS year the Alphian Literary Society will celebrate the tenth anniversary of its founding. From a humble beginning the society has grown in numbers and power to its present strength. Like other organizations it has experienced dark days and discouragment, but by determined effort it has gained a firm foothold in the life of the school.

But the real strength of a literary society cannot be estimated in numbers. The character of the work done is the determining factor. The watchword of the Alphians is faithful preparation and their creed, constant effort, not only along the particular line in which the individual members easily excell, but along many lines. The Alphians aim to make each effort their best effort and thus more nearly approach their goal of confidence and poise. Closeness of organization, frequency and regularity of carefully planned programs and painstaking effort—all aid in building up the society.

Social meetings during the school year and a Chapter reunion each June strengthen the ties of friendship between active and graduate members and promote the general feeling of loyalty to the school.

May many more years be added to the life of the Alphian Literary Society, each one full of glad success in work well done and power acquired!

Historian—Mr. W. Ashton Gamble

S the wings of Time flit on through the ages upon them once more is chronicled the eventful history of the Sigma Pi Iota.

According to legendary tablets of the past, there came to "Carnegie" in the year 1907 one who foresaw, as did the Roman seers of old, the great place that rhetorical work might occupy in our education. To Professor Bowers, who worked so assiduously with the S. P. I. in its infancy, and who so ably fostered that little spark of literary genius then under his guidance and direction, is due the strength and eminence of the society at the present writing. Nine long and successful years have served to place this organization among the foremost of the student activities in the State Normal and Industrial School.

Its Greek cognomen, "Sigma Pi Iota," since time immemorial, had rested in the great Grecian archives of Mythology; but, in the year 1907 the mystic letters were incorporated in our constitution as the name of this notable body.

In speaking of our presidents, we regret to say, that space forbids penning an individual tribute to the memory of the many illustrous potentates who have so successfully held the executive reins; but suffice to say, that with President R. J. Gamble, under whose able guidance the society now flourishes, the entire number of presidents has reached the total of one score.

The aims of the Sigma Pi Iota are far reaching and manifold. Of course primarily, they are to give the students facility in public speaking, both argumentative and oratorical. Debating, coincident with parliamentary law, is the great forte of the society. This organization holds, as did the ancient rhetoricion, Demosthenes, that public speaking is an acquired art, and in its acquisition, places emphasis especially upon propriety, precision, perspicuity, power and eloquence in public expression.

This organization always has the best of supervision, under the combined direction of Professors Ackert and Fuller, who serve alternately as critics. Under their helpful guidance the literary work is much stimulated and is thus raised to a much higher standard of excellence.

The society has at present a membership of thirty-five and the number will continue to increase as the students are made to feel the helpfulness and benefits derived from literary training.

Knowing what has been accomplished in the past, and feeling its influence in the present we are confident that no "Delphic Oracle" is needed to predict a future of splendid achievements for this society. The Sigma Pi Iota serves as an incentive to mental life and action; and must ultimately lead to greater literary advancement. May we ever strive to emulate our past literary efforts, and may our successes be so many that the symbols, "S. P. I." will be emblazoned forever upon our memories!

History of the Mechanic Arts Society

If the year 1912, during the winter term, Mr. Fields provided a system of discussions, debates and lectures for the benefit of the short course students. These meetings were held every week in the lecture room of the Mechanic Arts building. The result of this was the beginning of the Mechanic Arts Society.

The germ lay dormant for nearly a year. In 1913 the work was again taken up, this time under the leadership of Mr. Dunphy, who extended the eligibility of membership to all male students of the school. On February 12 the first meeting was held. It was conducted systematically, and was marked with memorable formalities. A constitution was drawn up and unanimously adopted, amendments to it having since been made.

After its organization the society immediately came to the front, and was soon recognized by the other school organizations as one of the strongest societies in the school, one which contributes essentially to the maintenance and advancement of the industrial phase of this institution. It is the only society which represents the true character of the school. Whenever necessary, it makes investigations into various subjects of universal interest, co-operates with the other societies, contributes yearly to the interscholastic debating teams, and holds itself responsible for its share of the school's debating ability.

On February 12, 1913 the society was organized with fifteen members present. Its membership steadily increased until now the enrollment has reached forty-five. Five men have occupied the chief executive chair, Cleve Malin being the first. He has been succeeded by Clyde McCormick, Jay Harm, Harold Zieman and John Dawe, respectively.

The programs usually consist of debates, discussions and illustrated lectures. "Feeds" are enjoyed at least once each term.

No society in the school offers such a great diversity of opportunities for the young men of the manual training department as does the Mechanic Arts Society. It is one of the most promising societies in the institution, and teeming with possibilities. Thus its past achievements bid fair to future progress.

Young Men's Christian Association

HE Young Men's Christian Association has a strong organization, with a membership of over fifty. This society makes it a point to meet all the new students at the trains, and to help these new students to enroll and to find suitable rooming and boarding places. A stag party is planned sometime during the first or second week of school, where the new men make the acquaintances of the older ones. At these parties games and contests of various kinds furnish entertainment for all.

This organization holds a regular meeting every Wednesday evening. To these meetings all young men of the school are cordially invited. The leaders of the meetings are selected from the student and faculty members and occasionally from the leading business and professional men of the city. Four of the men have organized themselves a quartette and often furnish special music. Joint meetings are sometimes held with the Young Women's Christian Association. This has proven very successful for both societies.

The aim of this society is "character building." With this in view the older members devote much of their time to keeping in close touch with all the new men of the school. Yes, these active "Y" boys are willing to help any one in the hour of distress and grief.

Each year the association sends men to conventions and conferences and in that way keeps in touch with other Young Men's Christian organizations.

HE Young Women's Christian Association stands for everything that is high, true, noble and good in the lives of the students. The main purpose of the association is to bring young women into closer touch with God. However, the members find time to show many kindnesses to others and especially to the new students. A special committee meets all new girls at the trains.

The regular devotional meetings held every Wednesday evening are led by the members themselves, tho frequently outside speakers are invited. Social life in the school is promoted by the association thru a series of receptions, parties, and entertainments.

The Association aims to send at least one delegate to the Annual Student Conference at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. It is a great inspiration to the delegate to know that thousands of splendid young women are really giving first place to religious things. Students are beginning to realize more and more that religion is essential to a fully developed individual.

Our association workers are active and loyal. We feel that the Young Women's Christian Association has played an important part in maintaining the moral atmosphere of the school.

History of the Orpheus and Shubert Glee Clubs

Choral Director—Miss Alpha Holte Pianists—Misses Howel and Boom Historian—Mr. W. Ashton Gamble

HE Orpheus and Shubert Glee Clubs were organized in the fall of 1913. These voluntary organizations offer unusual musical advantages to all young people of the school.

Music has its just mission in every human life. It, like no other art, touches the very soul of man, awakens beautiful memories, and couches his feelings in the language of repose and harmony. Music lends enchantment to our lives; for in it we become lost in silent reverie, and gently float away into a realm of mystery and wonderment. While here, basking in its mellowy strains, we rehearse our joys and sorrows, the victories, defeats, longings, exultations and depressions of our lives. Music is not only for those who glory in it as an accomplishment, but it is interwoven with the life, thought and emotions of all nations. Music, not "esperanto", is truly the universal language. To teach how to use and understand this language has been the Glee Club's purpose.

From the days of their infancy, under the direction of Mr. Jacob Schutz, these organizations have achieved success.

The first debut of any note was the rendition of the operetta "Sylvia". This was a grand success, and added a decided musical distinction to the State Normal and Industrial School.

In the following year, 1914, the glee clubs appeared in the famous operetta "Bulbul".

The next year, 1915, the music department was under the supervision of the Misses Holte and Howell. "The Chocolate Soldier," the first operatta given under their combined direction, together with Miss Olson as instructor in public expression, served to reveal the power and possibilities of our clubs and directors.

This season, 1916, the glee clubs are busy rehearing for "The Bo'sn's Bride." This has surpassed all efforts of the past.

The glee clubs not only participate in the annual school operettas, but also appear in recitals, take part on special occasions; and render selections for commencement week.

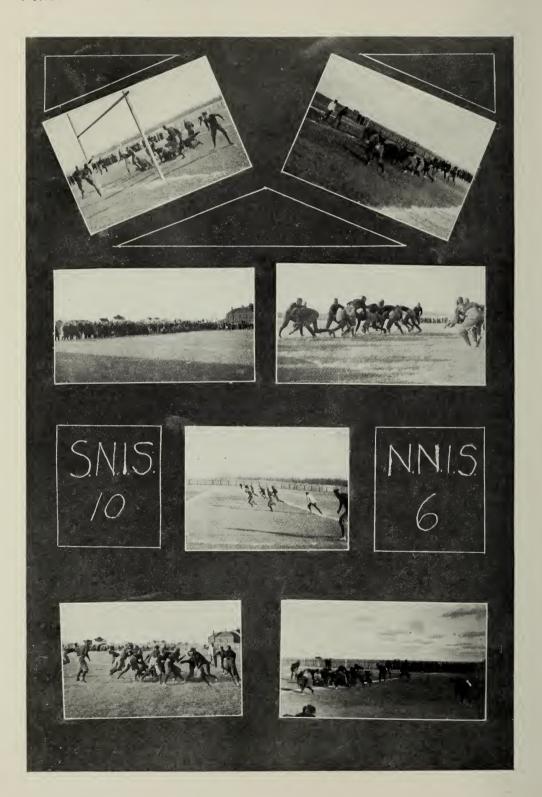

The Orpheus and Shubert Glee Clubs have laid their foundations well, and if their future career can be judged by their past success they will become—what they now promise to be—important factors in the musical life of our state institution.

Foot Ball 1915

CAN truthfully say that the 1915 squad was the best I have ever worked with. The boys from the Captain down to the lowest sub. were good workers, eager to learn and anxious to put into practice what they learned.

We were greatly handicapped in the first game because some of the boys were late in entering school and by the fact that we had no game to get us ready for Wahpeton. However we gave a good account of ourselves and made them work for their thirteen points, and only breaks of the game prevented us from scoring as many.

Four days later we met Valley City, and the team, showing an improvement of one hundred per cent, triumphed over them by the score of 26 to 0.

In a week and a half we met Jamestown College. We arrived in Jamestown late in the afternoon and the last half of the game was played in the dark. They gave us credit, however, of giving them the best game of the season in Jamestown and we were much pleased with the fact that we scored the last touchdown.

One week later we met and defeated Aberdeen for the first time in the history of the two schools. Without any other successes, that would probably have made the season a successful one.

However, I believe that every man on the squad derived pronounced benefits from the 1915 season. One thing remarked about by many was their condition. They were always better at the end of the game than their opponents. This was due to the fact that the boys took good care of themselves, and that we had a faithful second team to work against.

In this school the second squad gets less credit than they deserve. The only remuneration they get is the fun and experience which is necessary for the first team of the future. Their work is appreciated, however, by the first team and myself. Others who helped to make this season a success were Mr. Dewey, as coach of the second team, and Herbert Pease, trainer.

J. E. Swetland, Coach.

HARRY NICHOLS, "Texas", Left Tackle, Captain

A bulwark of strength on the defense and offense. A hard worker and capable leader.

FLOYD BROWN, "Bat", Quarter and Left Half
The best ground gainer, kicker, and open field tackler on the team. As Captain of the 1916 team great things are expected of him.

ARTHUR STRUTZ, "The Old Dependable", Center
Science has a lot to go with his work in passing. He is dependable on offense and defense. Always "there."

JAY ASHLEY, "Shanks", Right End and Right Guard A long distance passer and a versatile line man.

GEORGE BROWN, "Fat", Fullback and Right Guard A faithful worker and good line plunger. The youngest and next to the biggest man on the squad.

JOHN DAWE, "Don," Right Tackle
Came into his own after four years of endeavor. Always played a star game and never loafed.

JOE CARPENTER, "Skinney", Right End
The fastest man on the squad, whose favorite hobby is a hundred yard dash after catching a pass.

Stanley Fleming, "Hawksbaw", Left End
As wily as his name signifies. He slipped it over on Aberdeen and broke up end runs coming his way.

S.N.I.T.C.H.E.R

LEROY PEASE. "Pewee", Quarter Back
A fine field general and one who makes his 125 pounds feel to the opponent like 160.

JOHN ACKERMAN, "Dutch", Left Half and Full Back Determination is well photographed in his face, and that is what characterized his work throughout the season.

IRA MORGANS, "Ike", Left Guard
First year out. For a new man he is good and the kind that doesn't forget a thing when it gets in his "noodle."

Frank Callan, "Cullie", Right Half Back
Played a leading role in the defeat of Aberdeen. Nerve, pep, and perserverance are his great assets.

Fred Walz, "Fritz", Left Guard
A new man but a comer. If faithfulness counts he will be great next year.

RALPH OERTLI, "Little Czar", Right Half Back
Little Czar is his name, but Wahpeton and Jamestown said: "Little but oh my!" Injuries kept him out of the other games.

Andrew Hultstrand, "Fairdale", Guard
In the Wahpeton game he learned a lot, as well as filling the bill. Watch Andy next fall.

NEIL FARRELL, "Fleance", Right Half Back
A good defensive man and a dependable worker, kept off the regular squad this year only because the regulars were better than usual.

HERVEY HILL, "Gotch", Back Field Played good, hard, football as captain of the second team, and is a willing worker, eager to learn.

Base Ball-1915

Top Row—Carpenter, S. S., Ashley, C., Strutz, P., McGraw, 1st B., Sauer, 3rd B and Capt., Koch, 2nd B., Swetland (Coach)

HE base ball team of 1915 might well be classed as an "in and out" team, because at times the team played sensational ball and at others their ability was below mediocre.

Their real ability was well demonstrated in the decisive victories over Valley City, Wahpeton and the University of South Dakota as well as in the 3 to 1 loss to Jamestown.

The team possessed an able pitcher in Strutz, Captain elect for 1916, a good infield in McGraw, Koch, Sauer and Carpenter. Brown, Lee, Comstock and Morgans looked after the outfield, while Ashley for a new man caught some excellent games. Skaar as a relief pitcher did creditable work, and Judkins caught the early games in his usual snappy manner. Koch was the leading infielder, and Brown led over the other outfielders. Several of last year's team are back, and with new material usually available, we hope to make as good or better showing this season.

Basket Ball

HE basket ball season of 1916 was one of satisfaction and disappointment. Satisfaction because a good team was developed out of very light material, and disappointment because the team in its final games failed to live up to its midseason promise.

In the games against Huron, Sioux Falls, Aberdeen, Jamestown and Mayville, the N. I. team displayed excellent team work and basket shooting ability, but in the final games the team showed a marked reversal of form. This was probably due to the fact that the games were all hard ones, that the schedule was heavy and the games badly bunched.

THE TEAM

Pease and Carpenter, our diminutive forwards, were exceptionally fast, and good at shooting baskets from any angle. Pease by his excellent work this season has been chosen as Captain for next year; and Carpenter, this year's Captain who is a Senior, will be lost to the team after this season.

The Brown Brothers held down the guard positions splendidly. Floyd was exceptionally good in breaking up plays and was also a good basket shooter. This is George's first year as a member of the team and he showed up remarkably well.

Fleming, at center, displayed good form, and the work of Farrel and Geer as forwards was very satisfactory.

Coach Swetland is to be congratulated on the good showing made by the boys this season,

COMPANY A

The Military Company

HE military company of this school is an organization which strikes the key note of the spirit of the age. It is a factor which plays a very important part of the boy's education in this institution. It is required by an act of legislature to give theoretical and practical instruction in military science, and the company organized and drilled is subject to regular inspection by the Adiutant General of the state.

The cadet battalion with the commandant Professor J. E. Swetland, under whose supervision the company is regulated, at present comprises one cadet captain, one cadet first lieutenant, one cadet second lieutenant, three sergeants, one color sergeant, four corporals, one musician and thirty privates.

Up till a few years ago only one company was maintained, designated as Company A, but during the winter term another company is organized principally for the short course students. This is known as Company B. During the short period of three months this company makes remarkable progress.

At the close of each winter term the two companies are inspected. On the same occasion a contest takes place. To this contest all members are eligible. Prizes are awarded to individuals and to the squad showing the greatest military skill. A squad of of the best drillers of the company is selected. Any member of either company in this squad is eligible to an individual prize. The person showing superior military merit is awarded first prize; the next best receives second prize. These prizes consist of silver and bronze medals. The prize winning squad is awarded a streamer.

The commissioned officers of 1915 and 1916 were: Captain Arthur Strutz, First Lieutenant Stanley Fleming and Second Lieutenant Paul Rehberg. The non-commissioned officers were: First Sergeant Charles Blumer, Second Sergeant Ceryl Black, Third Sergeant Ira Morgans, First Corporal Oscar Anderson, Second Corporal Andrew Hultstrand, Third Corporal Ralph Oertli, and Fourth Corporal Charles Smith.

Those winning individual prizes were: Frank Callan, first prize, and Fred Smith-Peterson, second prize; while First Sergeant Blumer's squad was awarded the streamer.

The Hallowe'en Party

VERY delightful event of the school year was the Hallowe'en Party which was given in the Armory. Everybody came dressed as witches, ghosts, etc. The evening was spent in various ways, such as shooting for apples, the telling of fortunes, and trips through "The Chamber of Horrors." Another entertaining picture of the evening was a unique program consisting of original stunts, amusing pantomines, and charades representing famous characters in history and literature.

A rush for partners ensued to enjoy the delightful Hallowe'en lunch prepared and served by the young ladies of the Domestic Science department.

At the close of the evening's fun the large number in attendance unanimously pronounced this one of the most delightful of school parties.

A Narrow Escape

It was an electric chandelier, And it struck but one of three Squarely upon his milk white dome Where his hair had ought to be.

It pierced his scalp at one fell stroke, The blood did freely flow; He thought at first his head was broke, 'Twas such a mighty blow.

It was our worthy president Who thus profusely bled; An incandescent bulb, it seems, Had fallen on his head.

It happened in a railroad coach, As he returned from "Chi"; The porter apprehended that Our president might die.

The "Con" likewise felt deep concern, And a surgeon soon did call, Who dressed the damaged pate and said, "There's nothing in it at all."

Oh Prexy wise, we do advise Lest greater harm be did, When next you roam so far from home. 'Twere well to wear a lid.

Ten Commandments

- I. Thou shalt not miss thy eight o'clock class, neither shalt thou skip drill or chapel.
- II. Thou shalt not make unto thee a crib for the purpose of obtaining a high mark in exams.
- III. Thou shalt not make any unnecessary noises during thy vacant periods for thou art liable to become a member of the "awkward squad."
- IV. Remember the chapel exercises and be quiet, three hours thou shalt labor and do all thy work, but the chapel period is the President's time to reprove the students.
- V. Honor thy faculty and President, that thy days in the land of the N. I. may be long and happy.
 - VI. Thou shalt not shout in the hall.
 - VII. Thou shalt not "spoon" during school hours.
- VIII. Thou shalt not open another student's locker and take that which does not belong to thee.
 - IX. Thou shalt not bear any grudge against any members of the faculty.
 - X. Thou shalt not play jokes in Chapel on April Fool's day.

A Twentieth Century Interpretation of Book One of Paradise Lost

UCIFER, popularly known as Satan, tried to doctor the returns after a red hot campaign in the heavenly city, and was caught in the act by Jess Willard, James Jeffries, and Frank Gotch. He was taken to the gate and thrown out across the river Jordan, and yanked into infinite and ethereal space. According to authentic reports he dropped into Hell after a little jaunt of nine days and nine nights through the atmosphere. After arriving there and being greeted by a delegation of prominent citizens led by Jack Johnson, "the big cinder," he threw his hat into the ring and declared that he would rather be Kaiser down there than a defeated candidate up in Heaven. This remark brought a storm of applause from the audience, and at the conclusion of his speech he was encored by the large crowd. Then the meeting was dispersed after singing the national hymn, "He's a Devil in His Own Home Town," and the popular anthem, "Stay Down Here Where You Belong." Satan is still holding down his job at a fat salary. People who visit the city unite in saying it is a red hot town with plenty of excitement and gnashing of teeth. No matter how much people dislike his Satanic Majesty they object to criticizing his methods. Few newspapers dare to insinuate that his town needs a moral cleanup, and whenever the place is mentioned at all it is generally summed up in a short paragraph warning all summer resort seekers to keep away from the Brimstone Lake, as the beach is infested with sharks. And as for fishing, the Jordan invites you, where all nature combines to make your stay, one long to be remembered.

eeWatchful Waiting?

Once upon a dark day dreary, As we sat there, Oh, so weary In that gloomy English cell As we sat there wildly gaping Gaping for that chapel bell Suddenly there came a rapping But twas only scholars tapping As they passed that English door Only this and nothing more.

Faces sad and worn and pale
Tell the same undying tale
That the teacher still was cramming
Knowledge into dull heads ramming
While the doors above were slamming
And we waited for the bell.
Not a syllable we uttered
Not a sigh but what we smothered
Caged within that cold and lonely cell.

Surely it was shameful sin

For the scholar thus to grin.

Presently his tone grew stronger

Hesitating then no longer

"Teacher" said he, "Madam, truly your forgiveness I implore,
But the fact is you were rapping

While the bells came lightly tapping

And upstairs they now are clapping"

Quoth the teacher, "Forever more!"

But the time was quickly fleeting
While the scholar thus was speaking
Still the teacher to our sorrow
Planned long lessons for the morrow
And the bell we waited for.
But the silence was unbroken
And the stillness gave no token
Save, "Class dismissed," full quickly spoken
Only this and nothing more.

Ah, tis easy to remember
How chill fear smote every member
As they tiptoed up the stairway
And stood tardy in the hallway
Ere they reached the Chapel door.
There sat Prexy gravely gazing
With disappointed look amazing
And his eye with wonder blazing
While he conned all reasons o'er.

Suddenly his eye did brighten
With glad hope his face did lighten
As he saw them entering shyly
And come creeping forward slyly
Slyly at the Chapel door.
Then the class he cautioned soundly
And berated bells more roundly
And made promises profoundly
That the English bell fail NEVER MORE.

The Term Dance

HE three term dances are among the most delightful events of the whole school year. For months ahead they are eagerly anticipated by those who trip the light fantastic and even more eagerly by those who wish to become acquainted with this mysterious and fascinating art. About ten days before the all important evening a causual observer on the walk between the "Dorm" and Carnegie Hall seldom sees one of the fairer sex walking without an escort. Let us imagine the conversation of just one of these new couples.

"Well, hello Miss -----. May I carry your books for you."

"Oh, how perfectly grand of you, Mr. ——", with a nervous laugh.

An awkward silence follows.

She—"Oh! What a lovely day this is."

He—"Yes, won't it be a fine evening for the dance?"

She—"Whom are you taking this evening?"

He—"Do you suppose any girl would be foolish enough to go with me?" Another laugh.

She—"You're always joking. Why don't you know you could get the nicest girl in the Dorm?" A pause.

Then with a happy smile, "All right, will you go with me then?"

She feigning great surprise, "Why, Mr. ———— I'd never dreamt of such a thing."

He—"Well, whom did you think I'd take?"

She—"Why, I—I— would just love to go."

The next scene is in the armory, which is beautifully decorated. Over in one corner are the patrons and patronesses smiling at every one. Up in the balcony is the orchestra which strikes up the grand march. Then every gentleman seeks his lady fair and they are cff. The armory floor is gay with whirling couples.

The dancing continues until 11:30 when the lights "wink" and strains of "Home Sweet Home" float upon the air. Then there is a great rush for wraps and with a final long drawn out sigh the happy throng depart.

The dance is over.

I love it's giddy gurgle,
I love it's fluent flow,
I love to wind my mouth up,
I love to hear it go.

The Whisperer

Do you think a prayer can faze her, Or a verse from Holy Writ? If you do you are mistaken, For they interrupt her not a bit.

She whispers on regardless, (This whisperer is feminine, you see) And lost to all around her, She buzzes on quite merrily!

No chapel speech or morning song, Or announcement big, or brief Affects the flow of whispered words, Or brings tired ears relief!

And do you wish her name to know? Her name is not legion, but several! If this nuisance you wish to see You'll find her each day in Chapel.

To the Spatula

Oh weapon most pliable, of gleaming steel, You make me think of a wriggling eel. Your coat is so shiny, your body so lithe; You assume an odd shape in a manner that's blithe. Pretty little spatula!

Your uses are many, your value untold; You handle dough easily, both hot and cold, For cookies, for pastry, for pies you are handy; You please all the cooks from May to Mirandy. Happy little spatula!

To mold and to measure, to keep tables clean
This knife is quite ready, 'tis easily seen.
And should sad mischance drop a speck on the floor,
Pick it up with a "spatty" and ask for no more.
Handy little spatula!

For patting and spatting and poking the fire; For slapping the janitor who rouses your ire; For shaping and scraping and prying a nail You're so very convenient, so dear spatty, all hail! Busy little spatula!

The Snitcher

Who keeps S. N. I. S. on the map, And gives to her a timely rap That makes her grow and boom and snap? The Snitcher.

Who puts the "fac" in faculty?
In booklet placed those fair to see
And found the "snitch" in snitch-er-ee?
The Snitcher.

Who aptly named the jokes you see, Of School and teacher; or you and me And then sits back and laughs with glee? The Snitcher.

Who's got the seniors up a tree? Who's got the junior's spirit free, And the young classman's pedigree? The Snitcher.

Who knows this stately Normal gang, With oily word and deeds that clang? From them our little booklet sprang!

The Snitcher.

Whose force is working day and night To tell the truth (?) and tell it right About our deeds of mirth and might?

The Snitcher.

Who's here to greet you one and all, On each one make a friendly call, To bid farewell until the fall? The Snitcher.

-W. A. G.

Even as You and I

A Senior there was and he took English IV,
Even as you and I.
He copied notes till his arm was sore,
He outlined poems by the score
And I fear that in private he sometimes swore,
Even as you and I.

Oh the ink we waste, and the defeat we taste
As we valiantly strive to "get by!"
And we vow if we ever get through with the stuff
Whether by strategy, hard work or bluff
That we've sweated and labored and suffered enough
To last us till we die!

-F. L. A.

Editorial

Thank You!

We want to take this opportunity to thank everybody who has helped in the making of the 1917 Snitcher. We also wish to thank those who willingly gave the price for this book and hope that you will not be too hard on us in your criticisms. So we say to you again

Thank you!

We are obliged to ask you for a little more as a price for the Snitcher than formerly, but you may attribute this to the High Cost of Living or the War in Mexico, just as you choose. We want to notify you, however, that the very best quality of type and ink has been used in this book and therefore you should not begrudge the extra quarter.

If there are any among you who have a complaint against this book please see us at once and register your honorable kick.

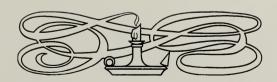

Office hours 9 to 12 P. M. 1 to 4 A. M.

All pictures in this book are passed by the Faculty Board of Censors, so don't take offense.

The Snitcher is going to press so the staff can catch a little sleep. For fear somebody has been left out:

Here's to the whole school!

The Old Oaken Bucket

(W. A. Smith)

How dear to my heart is this thing they call Latin When fond recititation presents it to view.

The clauses, the phrases, all dressed in their satin,
And every loved ending that makes us feel blue;
The high sounding doo-dads and out-landish diet,
The slave with a spear and the Roman who fell,
The verbal gerundive, the noun crouching nigh it,
Are hidden in Latin which I love so well.

(Chorus)
That time-honored Latin
That iron-bound Latin,
That moss-covered Latin
Which hangs on so well.

The subject, the verb and the bow-legged compound,
The flexible gerund and subjunctive mood,
The clauses of purpose encourage the pronoun
To take the possessive and silently brood;
The loose-jointed supine and verbal declensions
Join hands with conjunctions and joyfully dwell
In temporal clauses of Gothic dimensions
And e'en in the Latin which I love so well.

This moss covered Latin I hail as a treasure,
Its magical value brings peace to my soul;
It raises old Ned with my fleet-footed leisure,
And hurridly causes the moments to roll.
And gladly I seize it with hands that are eager,
In scanning its pages I dodge all the fever,
The measels, the shingles and smallpox as well.

I tenderly open my mind to receive it
As poised on my table it joyfully drips;
No hair-raising ball game could tempt me to leave it,
Though filled with the things which America sips;
Their fuss from the diamond fills all the creation
In tribute to home runs they noisily yell.
I close down my window in anticipation
And cling to my Latin which I love so well.

General Orders to Dorm Fussers

1. Take charge of the first young lady that comes into view.

2. Walk around in a devoted manner, keeping constantly on the alert, and avoiding all cameras that come within sight or hearing.

3. Repeat all calls as often as possible.

4. Quit your post only when properly given the G. B.

5. Receive, transmit, and obey no orders from any mutt and allow yourself to be relieved by none.

6. Hold conversation with no spinsters.

7. In case of fire or being locked out, take to the fire-escape.

8. Allow no one to eavesdrop in the vicinity of your post.

- 9. Salute all candy stands and ice cream parlors and the Lyric and pass them by.
- 10. At night exercise the greatest vigilance, between the Lyric and the Dorm, avoiding all persons for fear of detection.
- 11. Between reveille and retreat to take off your hat to all co-eds entitled to the compliment.
- 12. At night, after bidding your lady friend good-bye talk to no one until you report to White's restaurant.
- 13. Any case not covered by these orders can be settled by calling the preceptress over the phone.

You can't drive a nail with a sponge, no matter how hard you soak it.

If

If Bertha were quiet and homely
Bill Gamble bashful and shy
If Joe never were lonely
Or the drinking fountain dry
If Bowers never made speeches,
Or some students just hated to fuss,
If Ackert's watch stayed in his pocket,
It sure would be hard for us.

—The Snitcher Board.

Gossip

- "Say have you heard that the Snitcher Staff is going in the hole?"
- "Did you know all the boys are crazy about Bertha?"
- "Do you know Muzzy is very undecided?"
- "Did you hear that Petty let out the chickens?"
- "Did you know that John Dawe and Dick Gamble didn't play a single trick this April Fool's day?"
- "Did you hear that Prof. Dewey considers April Fool's day a legal holiday and dismissed his M. A. V class?"

Well, never mind, there isn't much of it true anyway.

The Sundry Seven

We are the janitors, five and two,
Who labor for Old N. I.
We cast our lot with the Gold and Blue
And have little time to sigh.

Every man of us has his very own task,
And works all the day without guile;
But most of our men find time to bask,
In some fair damsel's smile.

Then one of our number did beat even this,
And others, I think, plan hard
For future years just flooded with bliss;
But alone in the cold is this bard.

Next year at N. I. some of us will be missing,
But "a rolling stone gathers no moss,"
Perhaps for the school it may prove quite a blessing
To rid some of those who are ready to boss.

The Military Ball of 1916

HE Ninth An place in the March 24,

Beginnin and still oc

HE Ninth Annual Military Ball, given by the members of Company "A" took place in the State Normal and Industrial School gymnasium, Friday evening, March 24, 1916.

Beginning with the Ancients, the dance has flourished thru ten centuries, and still occupies a popular place in Modern Social life.

It has been well said that the dance gladdens both mind and body, and that the animation of youth overflows spontaneously in harmonious dance movements.

Because of these social characteristics the Military Ball, given in proper military setting, holds a permanent place in the social activities of the State Normal and Industrial School. It is the greatest social event of the year and, for this reason the Ninth Annual Military Ball was eagerly welcomed.

The dancers met in the School Armory which was tastefully decorated with the school colors of blue and gold; and military colors of red, white and blue, across the ceiling; and at parallel intervals ran twisted streamers of blue and gold. The walls were neatly draped in folds of white crossed with a star-like arrangement of blue and gold that extended the entire length of the room. At one end of the armory hung the big Battalion Flag with the beautiful squad streamers, under which the patrons and patronesses were seated. In the center of the dancing area itself was a beautiful electric camp-fire structure, which, in all its splendor suggested the soft glow of an evening camp-fire.

The grand march to the accompaniment of patriotic airs, was successfully lead by Captain Strutz and Miss Bessie Coleman, First Lieutenant Fleming with Miss Helen Coleman, Mr. William Gamble with Miss Cora Kabrud; and Corporal Hultstrand with Miss Marian Johnson.

After tripping the light fantastic until midnight, a dainty luncheon was served in the Domestic Science rooms by the young ladies of the department. Feeling much refreshed the merry dancers reluctantly bade farewell, well pleased with the Military Ball of 1916 and the efforts of Company A.

Our Students

The very brightest pupils, Who ever learned a thing, Now are in our Normal Wearing a Senior ring.

The very kindest pupils, Who ever went to school, Now are in the Junior class, Heeding the golden rule.

The very laziest pupils, Who ever climbed the stairs, Now are in the Sophomore class, Leaning in their chairs.

But the very greenest pupils,
Who never say, "I shan't,"
Now are in the Freshman class,
Trying to learn, but "can't."
—By a Freshman.

Blessed are they who make short speeches in Chapel, for they'll be asked to speak again.

The Alumni are the fruit the faculty have not canned.

She held him in her soft embrace, As maidens fair are won't to do, And stroked his hair and pressed her face Against his lips to kiss and coo. Ye gods of an unhappy race! Why wasn't I a poodle, too?

IN MILITARY DRILL

Captain Strutz (to visitor)—"That man used to be a grocery clerk."

Visitor—"That so?"

Strutz—"Yes every time he comes to order arms he tries to put his gun behind his ear."

Andrew Hulstrand, giving commands as corporal.—"Squad forward. Nop! Squad left oblique. Whoa! Halt!"

School Notes

Conundrum: "When did the N. I. realize a rapid increased in membership?" When it got Fuller.

Wood to Gamble: "I don't understand her. She seems so distant." Dick: "Look here, fellar, I've told you from the beginning that Hay and Wood are both dry substances and would not mix."

Lost. All interest in solid geometry. Also my temper. Finder please return and receive reward. Richard Gamble.

Wanted. A flower to "Press." Daisy preferred. Petty Coleman.

Freshie to Senior. "Is ignorance bliss?" Senior. "You seem to be enjoying it."

Wanted. An adipose tissue reducer. Torchy.

The most powerful factor in shaping my education is "Will." Cora.

"I sat me down; I thought profound,

This maxim wise I drew,

It is easier far to like a girl,

Than make a girl like you."

Pay Day As It Seems to the Faculty

Pay day comes every now and then; Sometimes then, Seldom now, and always never.

They did not rush or hurry,

Nor sit up late to cram,

Nor have the blues and worry,

But———they flunked in their exam.

A Thing Worth While

A thing worth while is a wholesome smile 'Tis a ray of sunshine and joy,
A gleam of beauty, of hope, of wealth,
'Tis something we all enjoy.

A thing worth while is a kindly word, To lighten some heart that's sad. Kind words are gems in the necklace of life, They make the unhappy glad.

A thing worth while is a noble deed, To help the discouraged along. Comfort the weary and those in need With a cheery word and a song.

To be simple in faith, to be kind in heart, To meet every fate with a smile, To be thoughtful of others is a Christian Art, That teaches us things worth while.

A Snitcher Staff Suggestion

Let's abolish jails and prisons,
Include the work house too,
Away with penal servitude,
We'll tell you what to do.
Let expulsion be forgotten
Let suspension be out of date
The problem of good discipline
Is solved by the Naughty eight.
Create a monster Snitcher Staff,
That then is our suggestion.
Elect to it all cluprits, and
You've solved one reform question.

State Normal and Industrial School

Ellendale, North Dakota

STRONG courses in Manual Training have always characterized this school. It gives both thoro industrial courses and a complete teacher's course in manual training; also steam and gas engineering.

NOT to be less thoughtful for the young women, thoro training is offered in cooking, sewing, household management, dressmaking and related subjects.

A strong teacher's course is given.

IN preparation for teaching the regular normal courses are given, training teachers for the public schools both in the academic and in special subjects.

The demand for teachers far exceeds the supply.

THE science of agriculture is justly receiving more attention, as a field offering the greatest opportunity for scientific management. The S. N. I. has an agricultural department with demonstration plats in the school garden, and alfalfa, sweet clover and corn fields.

COMMERCE is one of the great world interests. Every one should at least know how to keep a set of books. A good commercial course is given, preparing the student for immediate work at the office or counter, or in the bank.

HERE one can find opportunity to complete an academic course, and the student may elect some of the industrial subjects as a part of his study schedule. Classes in the common branches are maintained for those who need further drill in the fundamentals.

EVERY one has rhythm in his soul. At least that is expert opinion. This school aims to develop all possibilities, and offers strong courses in vocal and instrumental music and maintains a splendid department of fine arts.

RIGHT development demands attention to the physical side, and gymnasium exercises, physical training, track and team athletics with various forms of student activities tend to keep the body in health and the mind in poise.

Would you like to know more about this practical school "of the people, by the people and for the people"? A copy of its annual catalog may be had for the asking.

SOME CALL IT RUM TUM DITTY AND OTHERS RED RABBITT

But it seems to be very popular and much more appetizing than the old style "Welch Rarebit." Try it tonight! Pour contents of one can Campbell's Tomato Soup into Chafing dish or double boiler. When hot add one pound of cheese, cut in dice; cook until cheese is thoroughly melted and mix with soup. Add red pepper to taste, and one egg slightly beaten. Stir well a few minutes and serve hot on crackers or toast.
